

Year's Work of Wiltwyck Chapter

There was a large attendance of the members of Whitwick Chapter, D. A. R., at the Chapter House on Thursday afternoon when the last regular chapter meeting for the season was held. Three new members were reported, Mrs. George Hanson, Mrs. Fred Witting and Mrs. Peter Black. An invitation was received from the Enoch Crosby Chapter of Clarend, N. Y., to attend the Hudson Valley conference in that place on Monday, June 18.

Most of the afternoon was devoted to the presentation of very interesting annual reports from the secretary, the treasurer, the Old Stone House Fund committee, the corresponding secretary, the registrar, the Americanization committee, the resolutions committee, the Magazine committee, the correct use of the flag committee and the historian.

The report of the historian is given in full as follows:

Report of Historian.

Report of the Historian of Whitwyck Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, for the year ending June 1, 1928.

Madam Regent, and Members of Wilwreck Chapter, D. A. R.:
A year ago when I was first to designate me as the historian of this chapter—to record the activities and accomplishments of an integral part of a vast patriotic organization. In this capacity, it now devolves upon me, at the end of the thirty-sixth year of our organization, to recall to you the chief events and achievements of our chapter, in a year full of patriotic celebrations, nationwide in character—our own Kingsmen participating to a great extent in these same celebrations. No happy choice for a background could be made. Our efforts must necessarily be of the highest to fit into such a setting. We have had many to inspire us to greater achievements this year. Both members and friends have contributed nobly and generously of time and talents; for which we now, once more, express our deepest appreciation.

Each year brings its changes in membership. Last year ended with 215 enrolled in Willy's Chapter. Today the total is 213.

The new members received during this period are: Miss Florence Henry, Miss Jane Stanbrough, Miss Ruby Cure, Mrs. A. B. Reynolds, Mrs. H. C. Shinnick, Mrs. F. M. Storr, Mrs. M. C. English and Mrs. K. Knooes. By transfer we received Miss Ruth Elwyn.

By transfer we have lost Miss Carrie More, who is now a member of the Stamford Chapter.

Mrs. A. S. Vrooman, Mrs. A. Hunt, Mrs. E. Wall, Mrs. G. Whitlow, Mrs. W. C. Kingman, Mrs. O. D. Winne, Mrs. J. Rodie and Mrs. J. Brodhead, to the Great Beyond.

Besides our one dollar per capita, annual national quota, we have contributed to state and national work, $130.25 for Manual for Immigrants, National Defense, Ellis Island, Tamasee, Caroline Scott Harrison Memorial, and Olive Whitman Memorial Scholarship.

Boxes of clothing, wool, yarns, needles, etc., have also been sent to Crossnor School and Ellis Island.

Locally we have contributed to the Industrial Home, Salvation Army, and purchased Christmas Tuberculosis Seals.

Our retiring regent, Mrs. T. D. Lewis, presented the chapter with two line books at the expiration of her term of office. To Miss Elizabeth R. Bevier we are indebted for a copy of The Bevier Family, by Katherine Bevier—a very fine book. She also gave one to the National Society for the Library in Memorial Continental Hall, Washington, D. C. Mrs. Van Wageningen unselfishly turned over her Sesqui Centennial medal to the chapter—we should have had one, but did not receive it, so she gave us her own. The redecorating of the dining room was another one of the obligations she

We had several guests during the year—most of them bringing greetings to us from their home chapters. The first meeting to be recorded in this brief history is that of last June. Most of the afternoon was devoted to the reading of the annual reports, all of which set forth examples for the future. A few words from the retiring regent, Mrs. T. D. Lewis; the acceptance of the chair by our new regent, Mrs. V. B. Varner; and the announcements of the committee chairmen for the coming year. An enjoyable social hour followed with Mrs. Ralph Wheeler, Mrs. A. J. Irwin and Mrs. W. N. Penderden as hostesses.

On June 14, Flag Day, the Chancellor Livingston Chapter of Mothers' Union entertained the Hudson Valley chapters. Twelve of our members attended this conference. During the morning while the regents and vice-regents' council was in session, the rest enjoyed the hospitality of Mrs. de laPorte, wondering at will through her lovely rooms. After a picnic luncheon, at which the hostess chapter served ice cream and coffee, we heard brief histories of all the chapters, with explanations of their names, and the outstanding events of the year. Mrs. Susan B. Warrington of Yonkers, S. D., and a former state regent, spoke to us of the work in

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press.)

New York—Mr. James Joseph Casey now has a counselor of public relations. He is employing Steve Hansen, high-priced press agent, who long has told the world about the races at Indianapolis and really at Miami.

Puerto Rico—Possibly a Franco-German war bell has been averted. Sergeant Martin, French middle distance runner, is unlikely to compete in the Olympic because of injuries. The same is true of Dr. Otto Peltzer, German star.

New York—Two valiant fighters in sport for Uncle Sam have lost their lives in an accident incidental to the training of fighters for war. Boy and Anaconda, polo ponies, which helped beat Great Britain, were killed when an army airplane crashed through their stables at Meadowbrook. The flyers saved themselves by parachuting. "They were priceless," said W. Averell Harriman, who raised and trained the ponies.

Chicago—If Babe-Do-Chi fails to take a blue ribbon tonight at the Hinsdale Kennel Club show, it won't be the fault of science. The Chow-Chow has completed a two months' course of violet ray treatment prescribed by a physician. "It soothes the nerves and stimulates the hair cells," is the explanation.

London—There's a new millionaire baby in India. Advice from Bombay are that the winning number of the Calcutta derby sweepstakes was bought in the name of the eight-months-old child of Ibrahim Dawood Kazi, timber merchant. First prize is $2,310,000.

Des Moines—Tell it not to Sweeney that there's danger of lack of stuff to run automobiles with. Dr. O. R. Sweeney, chemical engineer at Iowa State College, says a product derived from corn stalks is a potential source for a gasoline substitute.

Mexico City—President Calles now has seven grandchildren. A daughter has been born to Mrs. Thomas Arnold Robinson (Ernestina Calles), wife of an American merchant in Nogales.

St. Paul—The average person already lives 15 years longer than formerly, and the next half century holds in prospect a great increase in this figure. Dr. S. W. Welch so informed state and provincial health authorities of North America at their annual meeting.

Chicago—The private life of the stone-age man will be on view at the Field Museum. As visualized by archaeologists it will be shown in oil paintings by Charles R. Knight of New York.

MODERN HANDBALL COURT FOR TANNERSVILLE CAMP

A modern handball court has been given to the Police Recreation Center near Tannersville, N. Y., by former Police Commissioner George V. McLaughlin. It was announced Friday in New York by Joseph P. Moran, president of the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association, in accepting the gift.

Handball is the chief sport of the police and fire departments and when Mr. McLaughlin found the camp had no court, he gave funds for its construction. It is expected to be completed by July 4 when championship matches between the departments will be held.

Joseph P. Moran is a former resident of Eddyville and a member of the Ulster County Society in the City of New York.

Tobacco as School Prize

If a schoolboy makes a perfect recitation in some schools of Mexico the teacher gives him a cigar and it is the pupil's privilege to smoke it then and there. Sometimes if the whole class conducts itself in an admirable manner, the teacher will then distribute cigarettes. The arches light up and the school grind goes on amid fragrant clouds of smoke.

Gay Colors Mark Popular Fashions

Shades in Plain and Figured Fabrics Show Both Vivid and Dusty Tones.

The season shows that colors have much to do with the case. There are colors of vivid appeal as well as the newer dusty tones that at first attempted to dominate the field.

For instance, well in the lead of bright shades is English red. This alone proves that to be seen brightly is to be seen fashionably. Violet blue, too, is a gay color—a rich blue, the shade of cornflower. Mint-green, however, possesses a dusty look and belongs to the softer tones. Praline beige, which threatens a marked popularity, is one of the most distinctive of the new colors. It possesses the luscious shade of molasses.

Grege, a new color and the combination of gray and beige, is much worn. Off colors of gunmetal, brown and steel gray are in evidence and share the favor of marmosa green, and the grays with rosy blush to it.

Among the daytime and sports colors are seen cream beige, blue, red ochre, straw, lemon, plum, tobacco, rust and rose. Wood violet is again present in a soft tone.

Black and white combinations are again in favor. All black is smart in the new ensembles. Navy blue combined with some of the shades of blue and beige or gray is very much in the foreground.

In the evening "off white" shades are seen as well as the dusty tones and the vivid as well as the pastel colors. Combinations such as green and yellow and the various tones of blue are a decided factor in the appearance of the formal gowns.

Doris Dalton, "movie" actress, whose particular type lends beautifully to all shades, and who appeared recently in the first National film, "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come," wears a charming ensemble of striking design and coloring. The black kasha coat was made bright and interesting through a geometric border of scarlet felt, conventionalized from the designs found on ancient pottery. Trees, half circles, square patterns that intrigue the imagination, dot the coat. Flowers of felt, the colors affected in the border, decorate a lapel of the coat in smart manner.

Ties and Bows Add to More Stylish Frocks

Very simple are the finishing touches given to this season's models. Bows are seen on both day and evening frocks, forming a shoulder strap, as a shoulder knot, loosely tying a full collar either at the back or in front. These are always in the same material as the garment they adorn.

Ties are very varied. Particularly to be noted are flat little ties in printed material passed through slots on a plain frock. Many dresses have inserted fronts, generally in lingerie, white being the most important color for these. They are trimmed with embroidery or little tufts.

Another form of trimming often seen is a plain light material on a dark material. Thus almond green, rose or white collar, cuffs and jabot are worn on a black or navy frock. This gives a distinctive touch to an otherwise somber garment. Printed materials are treated in the same way and are used to trim both light and dark frocks.

Designers Are Against Too Much Elaboration

Warning is being issued on every side by the more fashionable dress designers against too much elaboration in the season's costumes. There may be feminine bouffants and a figure but both must be revealed in moderation. The more formal frocks are constructed along stateroom lines with few trimmings and decorations. Afternoon dresses may have lured panels and swaying draperies but they must be definitely restrained.

THE "SOMETHING BLUE," WHICH TRADITION COMMENDS TO THE BRIDE, MAY EXTEND TO MER LINGERIE, WHICH INCLUDES TOWARD GEORGETTE—ATHLETIC GARMENTS PROVE POPULAR.

New York—While the average woman finds best, apricot, or peach the best color selection for her more intimate garments, she must show some interest in the fact that blue underthings have rather suddenly become highlighted in fashion news.

The bride who runs true to form and follows the tradition of wearing something blue on her wedding day, or night, may well be delighted at the turn things have taken. What is more, she has a choice between the perhaps too-fragile chiffon and the possibly too-heavy crepe, for georgette has reappeared for bridal and other sets.

A Flesh Crepe de Chine Night-robe Introduces Interesting Blue Appliques at Neckline, with Blue Likewise, Repeated as Trimming at Armholes, Pocket and Hem. Tiny White Embroidered Dots Lend Further Embellishment.

Georgette, like other desirable textiles, may be tailored or adorned with lace, among which Alencon may be cited as a general favorite, especially in ochre and other deep tones. The feeling is that lace should contrast with and be deeper in tone than the fabric it decorates.

Although there are many frivolous dance sets, and delightfully feminine things to be found at lingerie counters, there is an interest in "shorts," and in athletic underwear generally that bespeaks an active life for the modern woman. Many models of this character are frankly copied from those widely advertised for men.

Success has followed in the wake of such garments as, by virtue of an added strap, they eliminate one more undergarment. There are single garments to be had that serve the purpose of the various undergarments women at one time deemed it essential to wear.

On Rearing Children from CRIB to COLLEGE

Compiled by the Editors of "CHILDREN,"
The Magazine for PARENTS

The child should have experience in earning money as well as spending it.

A child needs above all things to be happy. He craves affection and stability. No amount of material luxury can make up to him for lack of affection. Affection must not be spasmodic. A moderate love that flows gently on, uninterrupted by outbursts of emotion, is surely best for the child.

If a child hears another tell gleefully how someone made "easy money" by a shifty method, that child is receiving a lesson in morals. On every hand children are being taught all the time what it would be better for them not to be told. If we ask, therefore, whether ethics should be taught, we must remember that the real problem is not altogether whether or not such lessons should be given, but rather whether lessons instead of hurtful ones should be offered, and also whether the teaching should come from informed and responsible people instead of from the uninformed and the irresponsible.

One sure way of courting trouble is to expect a child to comply with utterly unreasonable commands. To tell a child who is restless to sit still; to expect a youngster who is enjoying a noisy game to play that game noiselessly; or to demand that he do nothing for any length of time is unreasonable. Anyone who has the slightest understanding of child nature will see that it is impossible for the child to obey such commands.

Bruises, "black and blue spots," the commonest injuries of childhood, can be made less painful by hot applications of water, or equal parts of alcohol and water, ammonia and water or witch hazel and water. This will contract the broken blood vessels and so prevent the escape of more blood and will also deaden the nerves slightly, relieving the pain.

No one can decide for another what is the wisest way for her to use the physical strength that is hers. But if there is calamity in the life of a child, it is coming home to an overtaxed mother.

Children whose every act is directed will not learn the self-direction they will need in adult life. By learning to make decisions for themselves children develop judgment and self-reliance.

Allowances are neither favors nor payments; they should be regarded as allotments of the family income, as instruments of education in the use of money.

Effective Contrasts For Sports

Left to Right:

A Tennis Set Consists of Sleeveless Sweater and Matching Socks. The Sweater Is Developed in White Zephyr and Banded in Angora.

Sports Wear Dominates Fashion Interest at This Season, and the Sweater Costume, Usually an Ensemble, Is the Winning Entry.

New York.—Sports wear, as might be expected at this season, dominates our interest, that is, sports wear that includes travel clothes and the simple little so-called sports dresses in which one runs up to town or down to the country, as the case may be. Sweater costumes are generally favored, and are inclined to color contrasts and details, often amusing.

While wool remains a prime factor, even for warm weather wear, there are interesting sports costumes not only of silks, but of linens and cottons, materials that lend themselves with charm to composite ideas.

For active sports wear, the sleeveless jumper or sweater is thoroughly approved. Such a jumper, sweater, or blouse, since it may be any one of these, always has some sort of a supplementary wrap, cardigan, coat, or cape, and here is where velvet gets so much of its prestige.

A Knit-In Bow and Yoke in Orange, Brown, and White Distinguishes a Hand-Knit Sweater in a Brown, White, and Orange Mixture. A Triangular Pocket on One Cuff Only Is a Smart Detail.

Loosely worn tweed has no dissenting vote. It is as smart a fabric as the season offers, which is high praise, since the season is high praise, including printed silks and linens and a wide range of wools, including knitted things, and sometimes a combination of silk and cotton or silk and wool.

Sweaters are developed along original lines and may have a scarf knitted in or may include in all sorts of designs, including applied or knitted dots. A sailor collar is sometimes a part of the sweater and knitted in one with

KINGSTON, N. Y., JUNE 9, 1928.

A researcher says that ten minutes' work a day by an unskilled laborer is all it takes to pay for the electric light he uses in his home. In 1859, using the same amount of light, it would have taken two and a half hours' work. Not so much "night life" in those days, perhaps? But not so much adult education or home satisfaction, either. And just suppose a fellow had to stay up to try to get Los Angeles in the dark!

Are the same people who poured everything they could beg or borrow into the Florida boom now repeating their history in New York? Or is it merely that another is born every hour? The Federal Reserve Board is suggesting to its member banks that they reduce their loans. The National City Bank of New York is a little more frank in its bulletin. It says aside from the weather, the chief jarring note has been the huge amount of speculation in the stock market.

SEARCH AND SEIZURE.

If telephone conversations are protected by the government, and wire tapping is construed as search and seizure and against the Constitution, what becomes of the lady on the party line who listens in while you are telling your family affairs and peddles them all over the neighborhood? If there is a constitutional right to free speech, oughtn't there to be a law to give freedom of listening?

The average man or woman who has tried to follow the intricacies of the matter and has had to give it up needn't be discouraged at his feeble-mindedness. Five judges of the Supreme Court think telephone conversations are not subject to protection from wire-tapping under the search and seizure guarantee of the Constitution. But four judges of the Supreme Court think they are. It wasn't an easy problem for any of them. This new world brings new problems.

THE AIR ADVENTURERS.

New air mail and passenger routes are being established all the time. The novelty of air traffic has almost disappeared. Not so the romance. The Southern Cross, if memory serves, is the fifth plane safely to make the flight from California to Hawaii. Yet America awaited news of its safe landing with bated breath.

Adventure is not foolhardiness. Every effort was made by those responsible for this trip to make it safe, to prepare for emergencies, to think out difficulties and to be ready for them.

This sort of thoughtful preparation is one of the causes for Lindbergh's continued success. And while, in these new, strange, uncharted fields, even the best prepared may meet unforeseeable and unconquerable dangers, still on the whole the principle holds good. Patience in waiting for good weather may be difficult, when the ship is ready to sail. But so long as weather is so important, the calmness which permits waiting for the best opportunity which the present weather-wisdom can supply may make all the difference between success and failure. Some flyers have lost their lives because they thought other people might think them afraid if they did not start in the face of adverse conditions. This fear of opinion is in itself not only unworthy but dangerous.

The great discoveries are made by those who use all the wisdom they can gather, and who leave as little as possible to chance.

FLAGS ON THE BORDER.

A great many Americans are going into Canada this summer; a great many Canadians are coming south. Several difficulties with police about flag flaunting have already occurred in border cities. One, according to the Toronto Globe, was made the basis of a demand for a Dominion flag law. The Prime Minister replied that he thought better results might be obtained by conversations between Washington and Ottawa.

This flag business between two friendly countries is a matter of courtesy that should be scrupulously observed. While in Canada, the Dominion flag should be flown "at the masthead", that is, the highest point of the ship. The American flag should be flown just below it. When the border is crossed, the crew should be reversed. Americans who visit Canada often, or Canadians who have been to the States, often like to fly the red banner of the Dominion crossed equally with the Stars and Stripes, on the porch or over the fireplace in their vacation cottages. That's all right in the house. But on a holiday, whether Dominion Day, Independence Day, Memorial Day, the King's birthday, or the common Labor Day, or any other day, weekday or Sunday, the flag of the country flies at the head and that of the other honors itself by flying just below.

No policeman with a sense of fitness of things stops a car on which a child's half dozen tiny flags are all fluttering together. Nor does he go farther than "Time to change your flag, lady," or "Don't forget your flag, sir," to the motorist who has decorated the car without thinking of forms and ceremonies. But the right-thinking motorist, thus warned, smiles and reverses the flag without objection. International courtesy marks the true lover of his country. Avoiding the flaunting of flags is one sure way to avoid all of these mistakes and has the additional merit of being in good taste.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

BREATH ODOR.

While it must be admitted that catarrh, infected teeth, tonsils, or sinuses may be the means of giving a bad odor to the breath, nevertheless—halitosis—as advertisers like to call it, is due in the majority of cases to a condition many feet removed from the mouth. As you know food enters the mouth, moves on to the stomach where it remains three or four hours getting softened and moistened and undergoing some chemical changes.

It then enters the small intestine where it undergoes more chemical changes and then it is ready to be absorbed into the blood. During this absorption it has to travel along a tube about twenty feet long, which it does in the course of about six hours.

Thus we can say roughly that you get all the good out of your food into the blood within ten hours after you take it in.

However, there are parts of the food that the intestine cannot absorb, so these parts are of no use to the body.

Some of this is the husks or fibrous coverings of food, or some food stuffs themselves that the intestine cannot absorb. Sometimes even good food products pass along with this waste.

These unabsorbed food stuffs must be removed from the body. Although they travel along a large tube that is only six feet long, they take longer to pass than it took the food to travel the twenty feet of small intestine, with absorption going on also.

That means that this waste matter is in the large intestine from about twelve hours in a real healthy intestine to forty-eight to sixty hours in a slow acting large intestine.

During all this time, owing to the large number of tiny organisms in this waste material numerous poisons are manufactured.

These poisons can cause the movement of large intestine to go upward instead of downward, and the gases from these poisons can travel upward past the junction of large and small intestine, past the stomach and out of the mouth, hence the bad breath.

Thus constipation is a frequent cause of bad breath.

Of course, incompletely digested food in the stomach can also be a cause. Bending exercises by making the abdominal muscles work, actually press against the large intestine, and send the waste matter downward and thence out of the body.

Or if the teeth, tonsils, sinuses and throat are not to blame, you can feel fairly certain that the bad breath is due to a slow or lazy large intestine.

Three years ago we determined to build a car so good that it would sell itself after you had driven it. Upon this basis Auburn has built its remarkable success and growth. The car HAD to be good to win out in this acid test. Because we DO mean it, we are offering you this week an opportunity to see for yourself

This is Auburn "Show Me" Week

- 1- Without the slightest obligation you can take advantage of "Show Me" Week at the Auburn store. Open evenings, too.
- 2- Come and ask for an Auburn car to drive and make it "show you." If it does not sell itself you will not be asked to buy.
- 3- Or, telephone 942 and a car will be sent to your home for a demonstration without obligation to you.

Show me—is the attitude to take when getting an automobile. Because a salesman cannot talk something into a car that is not built into it.

The "show me" buyer is simply selecting a car with the same business acumen that he uses in buying bonds or real estate or in making any other investment.

The only difference is that he probably knows more about cars.

He has owned several.

He has driven them for years.

His own experience and his own NEEDS qualify him to know WHAT he wants a car to do; HOW he wants it done and how LONG it should stand up and endure at its peak of efficiency.

Auburn sales will again increase this year, because—People DO know motor cars, and can tell the DIFFERENCE by comparing and by DRIVING them.

Sampling is one of the oldest and soundest methods of selling.

Therefore we offer you "Show Me" Week so you can sample the Auburn.

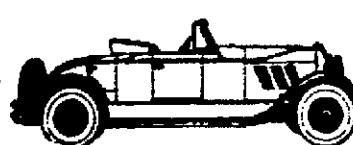

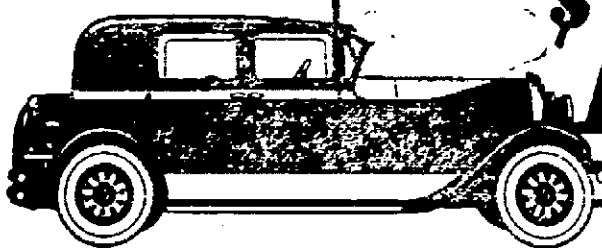

Come and see for yourself that it DOES give greater value; better performance; easier handling and does ALL the things you want a car to do BETTER than ANY other.

If the car then does not sell itself you will not be asked to buy—we MEAN it!

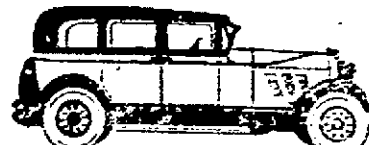

There is no magic about Auburn's amazing growth. It is simply by giving the buyer MORE for his money.

That is why it is GOOD BUSINESS to buy an Auburn.

Dance Recital Pleases Audience

A large audience gathered at the high school auditorium on Friday evening to witness an unusually picturesque dance recital, given by Miss Margaret Richards and pupils for the benefit of the Ulster County Girl Scouts. In the presenting of the varied program, Miss Richards had the assistance of Mrs. Trowbridge, who had charge of the costumes which were characteristic, charming and beautiful. The dances were interpreted and announced by Mrs. Fromer. Miss Genevieve Main was the exceptionally fine accompanist upon whose skill as such, much of the success of the program depended. There was one deviation from the dance numbers on the program and that consisted of two very pleasing violin numbers played by Kendall Zellie, who has gone a long way forward in his musicianship.

The first half of the program was given over to the very little folks, of whom delighted the audience almost as much because they were so sweet and cunning in their quaint, pretty or dainty costumes as by their dancing. Those appearing on the first half of the program and receiving much applause were Katherine Mary Dressel, Jean DeGarmo, Barbara Dawe, Jane Lynch, Joan Weber, Marie Elizabeth Rose, Christabel Murphy, Phyllis Craft, Ann Fessenden, Elinor King, Ruth Brinnier, Nan Ingalls, Elizabeth Schwarzwelder, Margaret Clayton, Almee Amfelt, Louise Kramer, Esther Handler, Ruth McKew, Evelyn Kleine, Betty Mulchay, Ruth Duryea, Miriam Tammany. The last number on this first part of the program was given by Miss Richards and was a dramatic interpretation of Marche Slave.

During the intermission Kendall Zellie greatly pleased his hearers by playing "Twilight" by White, and "Melody" by Dawe. He, too, was accompanied by Miss Main.

The second half of the program opened with a pretty and characteristic Greek Exercise and then "Gloria in Excelsis" (a prayer) given by the same group of dancers.

Much of the costuming in the last part of the program was very beautiful and special mention might well be made of a few of the dances, while all were interesting and considerable grace and charm was shown by the dancers.

was especially pleasing because of its simplicity—that of the tennis player well portrayed. Particularly graceful was the "Trio Waltz" by Helen Dauner, Emily Brown and Helen Amfelt.

A sater dance was that of the "Berkant Major and the Cook" by Helen Dauner and Helen Amfelt, and there was dash and spirit in "The Pirate's Daughter" as danced by Elizabeth Howe. "Incense" as danced by Helen Dauner was unique and picturesque. A brilliant number was the "Gipsy Vagabond" by Frances Finn, while the other solo dances by Marcelle Dauner, Katrina Fischer, Rosalind Canfield, Emily Brown, Betty Murphy, Helen Amfelt, were fully enjoyed by the audience. Miss Richards gave a poetically moving dance entitled "Cansonetta (a Song of Love)" that was enthusiastically applauded.

The last number on the program was an elaborate and remarkably well presented interpretation of The Blue Danube Waltz, that delighted all who saw it. Those taking part, with their softly colored silken scarfs, their baskets of flowers, etc., were:

The Danube..... Chalfit
River Nymphs: Theodora Heimerle, June MacFadden, Elizabeth Boeve, Katherine Smith, Elsie Kubiack.

Bulgarians: Ann O'Meara, Margie Turner, Eleanor Ingalls, Betty Murphy, Gladys Blodgett.

Austrians: Helen Dauner, Emily Brown, Helen Amfelt, Frances Finn, Rosalind Canfield.

Hungarians: Janet Lown, Helen Noonan, Margaret Connors, Isabelle Murphy, Ruth Joseph.

Shepherds: Marguerite Dauner, Katrina Fischer, Caroline Port, Eveline Gallop, Marie Ward.

Throughout the dances on the program were all arranged by Chalfit, the head of the famous school of interpretative dancing.

Miss Richards is indeed to be complimented on the charming program that her pupils so acceptably presented and also upon the smoothness with which the many numbers followed each other without tire-some waits. Both pupils and teacher as well as accompanist were complimented on every hand.

Business Picking Up

A junior partner in a law firm came boisterously into the office one morning. "Bill, I think business is going to be better," he said.

"What makes you think so?" asked the none-too-optimistic Bill.

"The young married couple next door woke me up quarrelling; they'll probably be seeking a divorce," replied the youthful lawyer.

INTERESTING MEETING OF STONE RIDGE MEN'S CLUB.

The monthly meeting of the Men's Club of the Accord Reformed Church, on Thursday evening proved to be especially interesting, and apparently much enjoyed by the members and their guests. The up-to-date methods of this club, the faculty of producing a congenial atmosphere and incidentally, good eats and fine music, have made their meetings very popular over a wide area. A number of the most prominent and active members are from Kerhonkson and Nanapanoch.

The speaker of the evening was the Rev. Mr. Richards of Ellenville and his subject was "The Modern Knights of the Cross." A number of guests were present from the Stone Ridge Men's Club and President Tanner called upon Ross Osterhout for a few remarks. He responded in his usual genial manner and was followed by Mr. Crawford who emphasized the beauties of the Rondout Valley. H. W. Coon, president of the Rondout Valley Chamber of Commerce, was the next speaker, followed by Mr. Stoffer, the secretary. The Rondout Valley Chamber of Commerce is a new organization designed to boost the interests of the valley and call to the attention of tourists the beauties of the valley as well as to revive interest in some of the historic spots which are being forgotten.

Alligator Did Not Leave Kingston

Antonio, the pet alligator of "Marty" Hagenlocker, which escaped from the garage of C. A. Warren last week, had not become disgusted with its new home but apparently likes Kingston as well as its native haunts in Florida for Antonio was found asleep in the bushes back of the Loughran residence. Antonio had been at liberty for a week and had apparently been enjoying himself during the entire time. "Marty" and Antonio were both happy to meet again and there was no protest from the alligator when he was returned to his coop in the Warren garage back of the sporting goods store on Fair street. Antonio and "Marty" have become great friends since last winter when Mr. Warren sent the little fellow up from Florida.

Some married couples are dissatisfied because they think they ought to get along together just as well as friends do.

Occupant of Barber Chair: Before you begin, I want you to understand that I am a man of few words. Barber: I'm married, too.

"Won't you give me one kiss?" he begged.

"No," she replied shyly. "I'm saving my kisses until the right man comes along."

A boyish voice spoke up from under the settee: "You mean that Wednesday night fellow, don't you, Dolly?"

Mother (sternly): "Fighting again! Didn't I tell you to stop and count 100 when you were angry?" Willie: "But it wasn't any good, mom. Look what the Jones boy did while I was counting."

Dark patches under the eyes, according to medical theory, may be due to defective teeth; but probably more of them are caused by a moment's delay in dodging.

He who lights and throws the lighted match away, may never live to light another day.

Boring Young Man (holding forth to pretty girl): "You know, I'm funny like that—always throw myself into anything I undertake." Pretty Girl (sweetly): "How splendid! Why don't you dig a well?"

A man was carrying home a big ball clock on his shoulders when he met an intoxicated man, who lurched up to him and said: "Say, Mister, don't you think it would be easier to carry a watch?"

Here's a plan for getting rid of dandelions: Just let 'em alone and see if they will not get so blighted thick they will kill each other off.

"Will you cut me a 25 pound piece of beef?" the slim young lady asked the butcher.

When it had been cut off and weighed, the butcher required: "And where shall I deliver it?"

"Oh," murmured the young lady, "I didn't want to buy it. You see, the doctor said I had lost 25 pounds, and I wanted to see what it looked like in a lump."

Look Out, Now.

He—"Your eyes twinkle like diamonds."

She—"Go on, tell me more about diamonds."

"I suppose, of course, you call your delivery car Lizzie?"

"No. Cooly."

"Why Cooly?"

"Because it so seldom chooses to run."

Lots of Action At Boxing Bouts

Boxers Showed Up Well—
Mesina and Tovereski Fought a Draw in Main Bout.

The American Legion boxing show
at the armory Friday night
under the auspices of the 156th Field Artillery furnished plenty of action for approximately 500 fans. Although the attendance did not reach past records
the scraps were up to the standard and pleased the patrons.

The men who represented Kingston
in the ring turned in performance
that pleased. Roy Van Buren, Joe Vordick, and Charley Molvin,
who are under the tutelage of "Doc"
Baker, who trained the late "Tiger"
Floyd Mayweather, all won their scraps.
Frenchy Duweig got a draw and Joe Myers after battling hard in three rounds of a scheduled four-stanza affair
was forced to retire from the arena just before the last round when a second leg some smelling salts drop
ed to his left eye.

Main Event a Draw.

The main event between Alex
Tovereski of the 102d Medical Regiment and George Mesina of New York, former lightweight champion of the Philippines, was called a draw.
The scrap was enjoyed by the fans as it contained plenty of action throughout the six rounds. The tilt was scheduled for eight but an added attraction, that went two rounds and was called "no contest", cut down the feature show.

Both Tovereski and Mesina proved to be hard punchers. The Filipino, however, was the more clever of the two and landed more effectively than the 144-pound Polish lad. Tovereski was very aggressive and made every effort to snatch the battle. The tilt was crowded with action as the two started the attraction by mixing it up and carried out the action during the six rounds.

Vordick Defeats Ponzio.

Joe Vordick of the local battery,
who tipped the scales at 155, beat Frankie Ponzio, 155, of the 369th
Infantry in the six-round semi-final.
The second round was the feature of the scrap. During this stanza Vordick threw the "black panther"
three times. The remaining rounds of the scheduled six held little chance of victory for the bounding negro who tried many times to put his full weight upon Vordick's jaw. Joe's head punches worked best in his defeat of Ponzio.

Van Buren Wins Over Hills.

The six-rounder won by Roy Van Buren of this city over Soldier Hills
of the 22d Engineers, New York city, proved that the Kingston scrapper has improved much under the tutelage of "Doc" Stuer. Roy, who entered the ring at 121, took things easy, while his opponent, Hills, who weighed 119, had to keep on edge every minute. Roy cut him about the face with rights and lefts and during the final two rounds had his left eye in bad condition. Van Buren's biggest trouble was getting away from the left jab, which Hills
used to stay his attack. The left hit reached Roy's face until it had his eye bleeding, but did not slow him up any. The result of the battle will likely give Van Buren a chance to meet Tommy Aboba or Kid Rash
when bouts will be staged at the armory on June 20, during the Firemen's Convention.

Molvin Floors Williams Twice.

Charley Molvin, Kingston boy, who made his second appearance in the ring Friday night, beat Bucky Williams
of the 369th Infantry in a four rounder.
He had the fight won in the first
round when he floored Miller with a terrible right to the jaw but failed
to retire to a neutral corner until Referee Dan Florio counted ten consecutively. Duweig had to be warned by the referee several times to go
to a corner, which resulted in Miller's getting an interrupted count. After flooding Miller for the second time
in the round, Frenchy was unable to
punch effectively during the remainder of the fight. He took some severe punishment while trying to cover up during the third and fourth
rounds.

Draw for Duweig and Miller.

Frenchy Duweig, Kingstonian,
fought a draw with Stanley Miller of the Naval Militia in a four rounder.
He had the fight won in the first
round when he floored Miller with a
terrible right to the jaw but failed
to retire to a neutral corner until
Referee Dan Florio counted ten con-
secutively. Duweig had to be war-
ned by the referee several times to go
to a corner, which resulted in Miller's
getting an interrupted count. After
flooding Miller for the second time
in the round, Frenchy was unable to
punch effectively during the remainder of the fight. He took some
severe punishment while trying to
cover up during the third and fourth
rounds.

Smelling Salts Too Powerful.

Joe Myers of this city and Willie Rosenberg of Fort Dupont, N. J., who weighed 135 and 138 respectively fought it out on pretty even terms in three of a scheduled four rounder. Considerable clinching marked the bout that was awarded to Rosenberg when Myers was unable to answer the bell for the fourth round. A second leg some smelling-salts drop into his eye during the rest period, which caused him much pain.

A bout which was to have been a four-round added attraction between Eddie Mayo of the 369th Infantry
and Jimmy Dempsey of the 105th Field Artillery was called off after 1:51 in the second round and declared "no contest."

Next Bout on June 20.

The next bouts at the armory will be staged on Wednesday night,
June 20, during the Firemen's Convention. A real attractive card will be put on it is said. "Red"
Bully of Schenectady and Nicker
Taylor will meet in the main attraction if negotiations now going on can be completed. It is likely that Roy Van Buren will get a crack at Tommy Aboba or Kid Rash on the same card.

Newkirk Wins.

The Newkirk All-Stars defeated
the Highlanders, 10-6, at Hanbrouck Park Friday evening. Miller was the losing pitcher, Scully the winning hurler.

BREADON DECRIES PLAYER-MANAGER

Playing and Directing Too
Big Strain for Any Man.

"I am convinced that no ball player,
however great he may be as a player,
or however great may be his possibilities as a manager, can manage a major league ball club and play his position at the same time."
It was Sam Breadon, owner of the St. Louis Cardinals, talking, says the New York World.

He offers as first-hand examples
Rogers Hornsby and Bob O'Farrell,
the two men who preceded Bill McKenzie, this year's pilot, as manager of the St. Louis entry in the National league race.

"Rogers Hornsby," says Breadon,
"was recognized as the greatest batter
in the National league and one of the greatest game hrs produced when I made him manager of the Cardinals.
He had a lifetime batting average
close to .400.

"He is of the positive, self-willed type that should be able to throw off
the mental strain that goes with directing the destinies of a big league club. Yet he wound up his only season as a manager of the team with a batting average of .317. He was 'way off his usual form.

"Bob O'Farrell succeeded him—one of the greatest catchers in the game.
O'Farrell's work as a catcher suffered mainly because of the strain of directing the play of the team.
"Selecting and developing the players and molding them into a team
and directing the play of that team
on the field is one man's task in itself. Playing any position on a major league ball club demands a man's best, mentally and physically.

"A manager cannot make the most of his opportunities if he has to concentrate his efforts at least part of the time to his own playing. A player cannot keep his mind on the play before him, or what the pitcher is throwing up to him, if he has to worry about the make-up of his ball club in general, the strategy to be employed
the following inning, or the exigencies of the moment brought on by his own pitcher's ineffectiveness or his team's inability to solve the opposing pitcher's delivery.

"You're asking one man to do two
men's work at once.
"It just can't be done."
To back up his opinion further,
Breadon offers the experiences of George Sisler, Ty Cobb, Dave Bencroft and others who stepped into the managerial ranks before their playing days were ended, and not only failed
to set brilliant records as managers,
but found their playing suffering as a result of the "goobling in brass."

A fool and his money are soon married.

Gasco Beat West Shore, 14-8

The Gasco took advantage of Bush's weird pitching and defeated
the West Shore team Friday evening
at the Athletic Field by a score of 14 to 8. Bush was very liberal with his free passes, handing out 11, besides hitting one man. He was also picked for 11 hits.

The Railroaders outbit the Gas-
men, reaching Metcalf for 14 hits,
but they did not use them to the best advantage. Poor base running was also a cause of their defeat.

The Gasco's big innings were the second and sixth, scoring five times
in each. Metcalf and Whitaker walked in the second and Quinn
scored them with a two-base hit.
Hoffman sent Quinn home with a single. Knight walked and Sickler hit safely to left field, scoring Hoffman
and Knight, bringing their total up to six, having scored once in the first.

The Railroaders kept cutting the Gasco's lead down, scoring one in the first, two in the second, and two in the third, bringing them within one run for a tie. The Gasco drew away in the fifth by scoring three runs, but the Railroaders retaliated by scoring three in the sixth.

In the Gasco's half of the sixth
three hits, three walks and a hit batsman gave them five runs and the game, as the Railroaders were unable to score after that inning.

Sunday Schedule Of Local Nines

The baseball teams of Kingston plan to furnish fans with plenty of action on Sunday. Games to be played are as follows:

The Rondout A. C. vs. the Knights of St. John of Schenectady at Block Park at 3 p. m. The appearance of the Schenectady team will be the first in Kingston and according to its reputation the Rondouts will have to play an exceptionally good game to stay in the limelight. Peters, Doyle and Coughlin will be ready to do mound duty for the Rondouts with Dulin or Hinkley behind the plate.

At Hasbrouck Park the Clermonts
and the Red Sox will clash. Both these nines are out for a decisive win, which promises that the contest will hold plenty of interest. Dunn and Houghaling will form the battery of the Clermonts while Ludtke
and Post will form that of the Red Sox.

The Pan-Ams will cross bats with the Albany All-Stars at Pan-Am Park
on the Saugerties road at 3 p. m.
This tilt is expected to be one of the fastest staged at the park this season. The Albany team is composed of a strong lineup that will give the Pan-Ams a chance to show some real playing.

The Blue Sox will travel to Fleischmanns where they will take on a strong aggregation of players Sunday afternoon. Williams or Huber will do the hurdling of the Kingston team. Jay Kirke, former big leaguer, who is managing the Fleischmanns team, has the team all pepped up to score a win.

Last but not least the Centrals
will invade Yonkers Sunday to battle with the Yonkers Kaseys, who defeated them 2-1 here last Saturday
after a hectic battle. The Centrals plan revenge but will have to show up real well to overcome the Yonkers team on its home diamond.

Potatoes Second Choice

Young Joe, at the age of four, remarked meditatively: "I love mother
and I love potatoes—but I love mother best, for she's a person, and potatoes are just a vegetable!"

Heavy Assault on Tagging Major League Bases

Chicago, June 8 (AP)—Hot weather, a necessary conditioner for most pitching arms, is still absent, but the annual assault on batting averages
is already effectively under way in the American League.

Unofficial averages including Wednesday's games reveal every team,
even the rampant Yankees, dropped in team batting during the eighth week of play. The Yankees, dropped only one point from last week, but since May 16, their average has declined 9 points. During the eighth week, Washington's team hitting average dropped seven points; St.
Louis and Cleveland's four each;
Philadelphia's and Chicago's three each; Detroit's two, and Boston's one.

The Yankees, however, are still in the lead in team hitting with an average of .313, or 25 points more than Cleveland, in second place.

"Goose" Goslin, Washington's
veteran outfielder, still leads the individual hitters with an average of .420, while Ralph Kress of St. Louis, with an average of .370, took second.
Bob Fothergill of Detroit climbed
from a tie for fourteenth position to third during the week. The leading hitters and their averages:

Goslin, Washington, .420; Kress,
St. Louis, .370; Fothergill, Detroit,
.362; Reeves, Washington, .358;
Gehrig, New York, .353; Dugan,
New York, .351; Lazzeri, New York,
.343; Ruth, New York, .342; Fon-
seca, Cleveland, .342, and Barnes
Washington, .342.

Herb Pennock of the Yankees won
two more games during the eighth
week and went into a tie for pitching leadership in the circuit with George Piparas, who won only one.

Boston retained its lead in team
fielding with an average of .977,
while Philadelphia clung to second with a .975 mark.

Other leaders: Team runs, New York, 292; fewest opponents' runs,
Philadelphia, 163; double plays,
Cleveland, 57; sacrifice hits, Summa,
Cleveland, 14.

Hornsby Leads League in Batting

New York, June 9 (AP)—Rogers Hornsby added still more points to his already handsome batting average in the week ending with Wednesday's games, according to National League figures issued today. The Rajah was tripping along in the lead with a mere .418. George Grantham of Pittsburgh was next in line with .394.

Hornsby also was near the lead in home runs, although Del Bissonette topped the league with ten. Hack Wilson of Chicago and Jim Bottomley
of St. Louis were tied with nine homers each, while Hornsby had eight. Hornsby and Bottomley were tied for the greatest number of doubles, sixteen.

Since assuming the reins as manager at Boston, Hornsby has boosted his average with almost every game
—exactly the reverse of the process which set in immediately after he was appointed leader of the Cardinals three years ago.

The defeat of Fred Blake, the Cub pitching star, sent William Clark of Brooklyn into the lead among the National League boxmen with six games won and only one lost through Wednesday. Many persons consider Larry Benton, the Giant ace, the real leader, as his record shows not only more games, but more complete games. Benton had won eight and lost two through Wednesday, and further, had pitched 91 innings without requiring relief.

Taylor Douthitt of the Cardinals led in base hits with 77, while Bisson-
ette, the home run king, for the moment at least, showed the way in driving runs home. No fewer than 41 Robins crossed the plate on transportation furnished by Big Del.

Bissonette also tied with Walker of Cincinnati in triples, each having seven. Bottomley set the scoring pace with 42 trips across the plate. His teammate, Frank Frisch, whose batting average is languishing down around the .305 mark, continued to set the base running record. The Fordham flash finished Wednesday's game with an even dozen stolen bases.

Fancy fielding helped the Cincinnati Reds through the week, as it had in earlier weeks of the National League campaign, but hefty clubbing
failed to lift the Pirates very high.
Val Pichnich's bat remained large,
and he finished the week with an average of .333, ranking third, only one point behind Grantham. Douthitt was fourth with .372, and Bottomley fifth with .370.

Tagging Major League Bases

(By The Associated Press.)

Deep down in the National League cellar, the Phillies had something to crow over today—their record
winning streak of the season.

When the Quakers subdued the Chicago Cubs, 6 to 5, at Philadelphia yesterday, they walked off the field with two in a row.

It was the first time this season
that the Phillies—sometimes referred to as the futility Phils—had made it two in succession. All told they have staved off defeat in only nine
of their 43 games.

Their victory over the Cubs was won in the eighth inning when Virgil Davis, a catcher obtained from the St. Louis Cardinals, cracked out a home run with two on base. All the Cubs' hits and runs were made off Ferguson in the first six innings.
McGraw doing great relief work for the winners.

A triple and home run by Curt Walker with one on enabled the Cincinnati Reds to defeat Brooklyn, 5 to 3, in 11 innings and strengthen their hold on first place.

The St. Louis Cardinals went back into second place in the standing by virtue of an easy 5 to 3 triumph
over the Giants at the Polo Grounds.
Wee Willie Sherdel baffled McGraw's
sluggers until the eighth when Mel Ott hit his seventh homer of the year. Virgil Barnes was driven from the box in the third when the Cards
bunched five hits, including a circuit
drive by Roettger, for four runs.

The Braves pounded three Pirate pitchers for 17 hits and into a 9 to 5 defeat at Boston. Pete Scott, Pirates' utility first baseman, hit two homers, making it four in the last two days. Barnhart and Hornsby also hit for the circuit, the "Rajah" being his tenth of the season, placing him in a tie for the league lead with Bissonette of Brooklyn and Hack Wilson of Chicago.

Ed Brown was benched after playing in 618 consecutive games, a new league record, but still far back of the 1,307 straight contests rolled up by Everett Scott in the American League.

In the only American League
battle, the Philadelphia Athletics beat the Browns at St. Louis, 10 to 8, in a game featured by the hitting of five home runs in the ninth inning. Cochrane and Hauser obliged for the Macks in the last inning only to watch Bettencourt,

News of the Day
In Wall Street

New York, June 9 (AP).—May was a record month for new building and engineering contracts in the 37 states east of the Rocky Mountains. They had about 91 per cent of the country's total, amounting to $668,097,000. F. W. Dodge Corporation reports. This tops the previous high record made in April by about $25,000,000. The increase over last year was 21 per cent. The total for five months of 1928 also is a record, reaching $2,796,301,000.

Wire nail prices have been advanced $1 a ton in the Pittsburgh district. The new quotation is $2.65 for kegs of 100 pounds.

Meltings of fifteen sugar refineries in the United States this year to June 2 are placed at 4,138,501,814 pounds by the Sugar Institute, against 4,765,366,936 from January 1 to June 1, 1927.

Commercial failures in the United States last week increased to 488 from 344 the week before, and compared with 441 in the same week last year, R. G. Dunn & Co. reports.

Operations of independent steel companies in the Mahoning Valley will be maintained at 70 per cent of capacity next week.

Chester C. Durfee, assistant treasurer of the Buffalo and Pittsburgh, has been appointed treasurer in place of John F. Diskey, auditor and treasurer, retired. Axel L. O'Connor was made auditor.

and Commercial

New York, June 9 (AP).—Stock prices continued to yield to heavy liquidation for both accounts in today's brief session of the market. Bullies were feeble in character. Extreme declines in the active issues ranged from 1 to 6 points, with U. S. Steel, General Motors and other recent leaders sagging to the lowest levels of the week.

There was nothing in the day's trade news to influence the price movement. Weekly mercantile reviews reported further irregularity in business. Call money was not a factor as Friday's rate always carries over the week-end. Uneasiness over political considerations was more pronounced.

Selling pressure was not effective against the high priced specialties. Radio ran up three points to 195 1/2 and then dipped to 192 1/2. American Bank Note, International Telephone, U. S. Cast Iron Pipe, Russia Insurance and American Republics slid down four to nearly six points. General Motors, American Telephone, Wright, Curtiss, Reading, Southern Pacific and Delaware and Hudson were among the many issues to decline 2 points or more.

The closing was heavy. Total sales approximated 1,400,000 shares.

How It Started
By JEAN NEWTON

"PERIPATETIC"

ONE does not have to be erudite to know the word "peripatetic" as related to a school of philosophy, that of the disciples of Aristotle, the Greek philosopher.

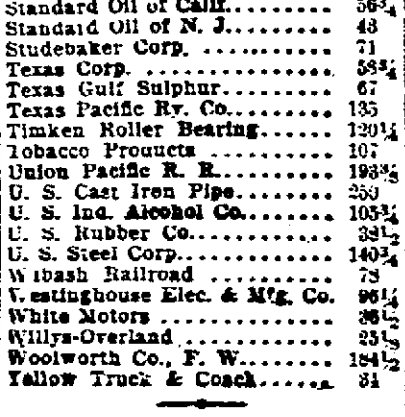

In everyday speech we find the word used in the sense of traveling, moving, wandering. Its modern use in this sense, however, is usually satirical or jocular.

It may seem a far cry from the philosophy of Aristotle to a modern itinerant, yet it is precisely in that connection that we have the interesting story of the word's origin.

"Peripatetic" is of Greek derivation and means literally "to walk." It was from the circumstance that the followers of Aristotle, meeting in the "garden" of the Lyceum, were known to walk about during study that they came to be called "Peripatetics" and their philosophy "peripatetic."

Popularized by these ancient scholars, the term has survived in common speech where today it is used more or less lightly in its original sense of moving from place to place.

In the lake of Skye, which was not restored to Scotland until 1286, are a number of ancient round forts presumed to have been built by the Vikings who took possession of the lake in the Ninth century.

The SANDMAN STORY

ABOUT THE DINNER

"THE dinner wouldn't amount to much without our presence," said the lamb roast.

"You would burn and you would not be very nice," said the water which had been put into the tin with the lamb to keep it from burning. "If it were not for the water."

"And you could never be cooked if it were not for me," said the store.

"And you would never have been lighted if it had not been for me," said a match which was now what would be called a "used match."

"And you would have gone very queerly if we had not been turned just as we should have been," said the dampers belonging to the stove.

"The oven would never have become warm if we had not made the fire burn well," said the members of the coal family.

"And we gave everything the first

"And they do need a Dessert," said the Apple Pie.

"start," said the kindlings.

"You wouldn't be so good if we weren't to go along with you for the dinner," said the potatoes to the lamb.

"You wouldn't be a real meal if we didn't come along, too," said the bread.

"And what about butter?" asked the butter.

The lamb was cooking and was becoming nice and brown on the outside.

"Every one wants water," said the Jug which at that moment was being filled with water.

"Every one wants gravy," said the gravy.

"And they do need a dessert," said

"And a cup of tea will be welcomed by several at the table," said the tea as it was being introduced to the boiling water.

"Of course," said the salt, "some of you—such as the lamb and the potatoes would not be very good if we didn't go along with you."

"We were needed by you, potatoes, when you were being prepared."

"I know you'll ask for three lumps of sugar in your tea," said the sugar in the sugar bowl.

"And milk will be asked for, too," said the milk in the milk jug.

"The pie would never have been pie without us," said the apples, "at least it would never have been apple pie."

"And the pie crust would have been a sad pie crust if it hadn't been for flour and baking powder, butter, water and a little salt," said these things together.

"But it needed some one who knew how to put them together," said a little creature who just appeared and who said her name was Fairy Yink.

"Yes, it would have been a dreadful pie crust if some one had just gone and thrown all those things together into a bowl without any sense or thought or knowledge of how to make a pie crust."

"But you're all so silly, all of you. In the first place all of the stove would never have been started without a human being starting it."

"In the second place some of you would have turned out right if you had not been properly made."

"And again you all form a part of the goodness of the dinner. The lamb plays the most important part in this meal—but everything has to work together."

"It's the same way with people. They must pull together to get the best results and the real happiness and so must a dinner to make it a success."

"You will be a fine meal—all of you—because each did its own part to make the meal a fine one. And the one who cooked the fine dinner knew how much little things such as seasoning had to do with tasty food."

"Now you're going in to be eaten, dinner, but even as good as you are, you would not be enjoyed if the people didn't have good appetites."

"Oh, yes, many things together make a perfect whole!"

And Fairy Yink was off as the dinner was taken up to be served.

Plan to Settle Mexican Troubles

Rome, June 9 (AP).—Plans for a possible settlement of the Mexican religious controversy are to be considered by the Congregation of Extraordinary Ecclesiastical Affairs, a body of 22 cardinals.

School Board Seeking Bids

In accordance with action taken at a recent meeting of the board of education the board is soliciting bids from contractors for repairs to the school buildings to be made during the summer vacation. All estimates must be filed with the superintendent of schools on or before 12 o'clock noon on June 15.

Included in the work to be done are several large items, including the painting of the woodwork on the high school, Schools No. 2 and No. 3. Electric lights are to be installed in No. 2 school and at No. 3 school there is a job in carpenter and mason work.

Specifications may be seen in the office of the board of education on all school days from 9 a. m. until noon and from 1:30 p. m. until 5 p. m., and on Saturday mornings from 9 a. m. until 12 noon on June 9 and 16. Sealed bids on each separate item must be submitted and marked with the school number.

The work being advertised for bids is the larger repair and construction jobs which will have to be taken care of during the coming summer vacation period and in addition to these major jobs there are many other minor repairs which will be cared for by the school mechanic. It is the policy of the board to make all necessary repairs during the summer season so that this work will be practically completed when the schools open in the fall.

World Travel Made Easy for Scholars

Round the world in five minutes! Across oceans, rivers, prairies, mountains; on the way, cities, temples and cathedrals to be visited. All can be done in the grounds of the Chateau de Bures, a school near Paris. The "world" occupies sixteen acres and its essential parts are of real earth and the oceans and rivers of real water. The Atlantic ocean is three feet deep.

A crossing from Paris to New York can be made in a few seconds on a tiny steamship. Once aboard the ship the schoolboy becomes explorer. From New York he sails to the West Indies, down the coast of South America, round Cape Horn and across the Pacific. A journey eastwards from Paris takes him overland through Europe. Like Gulliver in Lilliput, he can stride over mountain ranges and rivers, pay a passing visit to Australia, and, by a series of hops, skips and jumps over the South Sea Islands, reach Siberia, China or India. A flying leap over the Alps, a visit to Leningrad or Cannes and in a minute or two he is back again on the shores of the Atlantic.

In addition to models of cities and temples, an attempt has been made to create the atmosphere of the East. A tree marks the entrance to a sunken garden "way down east." A flight of steps leads to temples, statues, and symbols of Buddhism.

Barber Probably Is Still Looking It Up

Shakespeare and Chestina, a colored cook in a North side home, had one thing in common, a wide scope of language. The difference was that when the English bard used one of the thousands of words in his vocabulary he had, a slight knowledge of its denotation; when Chestina used a word she did so because it sounded well, and impressed both herself and others with her learning.

One day she overheard the "missus" talking with a friend. At one point in the conversation, one of them used the term "indecorous," giving it the preferred pronunciation with the accent on the third syllable. Chestina promptly appropriated it to her own use.

The next day she was telling the "missus" about her previous night's engagement with the new barber around the corner, who, it seems, had tried to entertain her with a story slightly "off color."

"Well, what did you say to him? Did you get angry?" the amused employer asked.

"What I mean, I got mad! And what's more, I told him he sure was indecorous," she answered.—Indianapolis News.

Peculiar Winds

Thermic winds consist of alternate regions of ascending and descending air set in motion by differences of density due to different temperatures. These occur practically everywhere, because the earth's surface absorbs radiant heat from the sun and imparts it to air by conduction. Such winds are intensified by different ground colors, the presence of clouds, bodies of water, etc.
